ABOUT DBT

Dialectical Behaviour Therapy (DBT) is an evidenced-based therapy that was designed to support people who experience challenges in regulating intense, volatile emotions and interpersonal difficulties. DBT can be effective in helping people who struggle to manage extreme emotions, get through distressing situations and maintain stable relationships. In DBT we teach four categories of skills to help people gain more control over their life including mindfulness, emotion regulation, distress tolerance and interpersonal effectiveness.

OUR CLINIC

We're a team of qualified, compassionate therapists that have advanced training, expertise and passion in delivering DBT. We specialize in helping people who have strong emotions, self-defeating thoughts and unhealthy behaviours that interfere with all aspects of life. We treat a wide range of concerns associated with emotion dysregulation, including anxiety, depression, aggression, borderline personality symptoms, substance use, self-harm and suicidal behaviours. As a fully online clinic, we're making it simpler for people in Ontario to find a qualified therapist that specializes in DBT.

Those with extended health benefits may be eligible for partial or total coverage of Dialectical Behaviour Therapy
